ANNUAL REPORT
EUROPEAN SOCIETY OF VETERINARY DERMATOLOGY

No. 16, June 2001

Editor: Chiara Noli
Publication Officer

President's Remarks

The beginning of this third millennium is a good opportunity to reflect on ourselves but also on our Society. The aim of ECVD is to further scientific progress in veterinary and comparative dermatology, to encourage research in our field and to provide, by means of meetings, seminars and courses, the opportunity for graduate veterinarians to carry on advanced studies in dermatology.

I believe that we fulfil these criteria:

- by organising successful workshops (remember Therapeutics in Cremona or Immunodermatology in Saint-Paul de Vence)
- by offering a world-wide recognised annual congress (just come to Copenhagen in September 2001 and Nice in September 2002),
- by having established an annual ESVD research grant of 5000 EUR to help ESVD members in their research work
- by offering an annual dermatological literature review in each Annual Report
- by including Veterinary Dermatology subscription in each ESVD fee

Our Society is still has about 600 members. This number has now been the same for 3 years. The rate of loss of members and the rate of acquisition of new members is now almost constant, (about 40 per year), creating an equilibrium. I think that we reached our maximum in "the old Europe". With the opening on Eastern countries, we have to attract colleagues from these countries and inform them about the benefits of joining ESVD. Furthermore, we must continue to attract students and that's why, with the help of one of our sponsors, we'll offer 50 free registrations to students to our next Annual congresses.

Dealing with the number of members we have creates a lot of work for the Board, especially for the Treasurer and the Membership Secretary. That is why we reduced the number of board members by one to be able to pay a part time secretary, Erna de Kork, who is doing a wonderful job as you have cannot fail to have noticed. You will also have noticed that Trevor Whitbread had been able to facilitate Visa payment, which makes life easier. Next year, with Euroland a reality, it will be even easier. No more excuses for not paying! Note that members who do not pay their annual membership fee must be deleted quickly from the Veterinary Dermatology subscription list, otherwise ESVD has to pay for them.

We have elections for the new board this year and the results of the postal ballot will be announced at the AGM in Copenhagen. Many people were proposed in the consultation process and this new blood is a good thing as it invigorates our Society.

This year marks the end of my three years Presidency and my last year as an elected member of the ESVD board. I would like to take this opportunity to thank my fellow board members, Zeineb Alhaidari, Chiara Noli, Antonella Vercelli, Margreet Vroom, Trevor Whitbread and our past-president Richard Harvey for their hard work during the past three years. I would also thank my good friend Thierry Olivry for taking care of our US account, Tim Nuttall for his wonderful job as Editor of your Bulletin and all the Full Members who have been involved in organising workshops and our Annual Congresses.

I appreciate the hard work and devotion to our Society, and, on your behalf, I thank them. For without all these people, ESVD would not be what it is now.

Good luck to the next Board and to ESVD

Dominique HERIPRET
ESVD President

Publications

I am grateful to the Board members, who provided me with the material published in this issue of the Annual Report, to Thierry Olivry for once again sending us his useful references list, and to our executive secretary Erna de Kok for the up-to-date membership directory.

The ESVD Bulletin is now regularly published twice a year thanks to the diligent work of its editor, Tim Nuttall. Reports of past courses and congresses, announcements of national and international dermatology meetings as well as letters and reports from the ESVD Board members make it an interesting and useful tool of communication between the society and its members. Please remember that the Bulletin editor is happy to receive any comments, reports of events, questions, letters and observations which you would like published.

After 10 years of dedicated work, Professor David Lloyd is stepping down as editor-in-chief of Veterinary Dermatology. This publication was his brainchild and he has worked enthusiastically since the beginning as it has grown to become a highly respected international journal. We all owe David a great deal and wish him well in his future endeavours. Ian Mason will follow him as new editor-in-chief, having already gained much experience as European co-editor. We all wish him well and trust that Veterinary Dermatology will continue to grow and develop under his guidance. Ross Bond and Karen Moriello remain as European and US co-editors respectively.

For the first time a supplement to Veterinary Dermatology contained all the scientific proceedings, as well as the free communications and poster abstracts, from WCVD4 in San Francisco. This supplement, completely sponsored by Pfizer, ensures that members who could not attend can peruse the proceedings in the comfort of their own home. Also, a monograph of equine dermatology was published as a special issue. This was dedicated to Tony Stannard, who passed away in 1997. It was made possible thanks to the great efforts of Claudia von Tscharner, Gail Kunkle and Julie Yager, who reviewed and edited the enormous amount of material on equine dermatology collected by Tony Stannard during his lifetime.

From 2001 onwards Veterinary Dermatology will go from four to six issues per year. This will help speed publication of submitted articles and keep readers up to date. The actual impact factor of Veterinary Dermatology is 0.833, ranked 34th out of 129 veterinary journals.

Finally, Veterinary Dermatology is going on line. It is now included in the journal searching list Medline, and electronic subscriptions are also available. Whole articles and abstracts of most cited references may be downloaded directly from the web. For more information visit the web page <http://www.blackwell-science.com/vde>

Finally a new ESVD web site has been created, at the address <http://www.esvd.org>, thanks to the dedicated effort of David Lloyd. The big news is that the ESVD finally has its own domain name and a system which makes it easy to maintain and update the site and easy for anyone to contact ESVD. The web site has now has downloadable abstract submission forms for the ESVD Annual Congress and the further education courses all have their own pages, giving up-to-date information provided by the Continuing Education Secretary or by the course organisers. Furthermore the e-addresses of Board members have been set up so that visitors are able to write to them. Finally we have now the potential to develop the site as we wish, including setting up discussion groups.

Minutes of the 17th AGM of the ESVD

Held at the Crown Hotel in Harrogate on October 7th, 2000, in occasion of the Autumn Meeting of the BVDSG.

Apologies were received from Antonella Vercelli who was unable to attend the meeting.

President's address

The AGM was opened by Dominique Heripret who thanked BVDSG for including the ESVD AGM in their Autumn programme. He explained that this was due to the legal requirement of holding an AGM in Europe every year and as there had been a World Derm Congress and therefore no ESVD Congress, it was decided to hold it at this meeting.

Treasurer's Report

Trevor Whitbread presented the ESVD accounts for the period 01/01/99 to 31/12/99. The year ended with the balance slightly increased. There was a good surplus from the Maastricht Congress but expenses had increased in most categories. The introduction of a surcharge for late payment had improved collection of membership dues, but this would have to be additionally tightened due to the imminent increase to six in the number of editions of Veterinary Dermatology sent each year to members.

The ability to pay by visa had been welcomed by most members and was now the major method of payment of annual subscriptions. At a previous AGM Hans Koch had suggested that 5% commission was too high for a visa transaction and that much lower rates could be obtained. We have spent some time in the past year enquiring in a number of countries in Europe whether it would be possible to set up a payment by visa in Euros by the ESVD which is a registered charity, and we have been unable to find a provider that will do this for us except for the one in the UK and we therefore have no choice if we wish to maintain this method of payment.

To enable more efficient use of the Secretary a separate account was set up in Holland.

Membership Secretary Report

Margreet Vroom reported a membership of 589. 45 had been deleted and 47 new members joined in the year 2000. There are now 198 full members including the following who were elected at the AGM.

Franca Galeotti, Italy
 Federico Leone, Italy
 Astrid Thelen, Germany
 Michaela Austel, Germany
 Christian Collinot, France
 John Hutt, UK
 Adi Nell, UK

David Lloyd was concerned at the declining membership and suggested ESVD should undertake more promotion. A new website linked to the ECVD website is under construction and it was thought this may help recruitment.

Publication Committee Report

Chiara Noli reported that David Lloyd was no longer editor in chief of Veterinary Dermatology and thanked David for his enthusiasm and hard work over the past 10 years. She congratulated Ian Mason on becoming the new editor of Veterinary Dermatology. Ian Mason indicated that he was open to suggestions on how to improve the journal and it was suggested that a letter section would be a valuable addition to the journal. Veterinary Dermatology had been so successful that Blackwell had agreed to publish six editions per year. This would, however, have implications on a future membership fee for 2002.

Further Education Committee Report

Zeineb Alhaidari informed members of the success of the Therapeutics Workshop in Italy in October 1999. As with most such workshops in southern Europe it was massively oversubscribed. The Immunology Workshop in St Paul de Vance in March was also a great success. Organisation for the Derm Path Workshop in London in May 2001 was well under way. A Feline Dermatology Workshop was also proposed for 2001 and Exotics and Equine Dermatology for 2002.

A.O.B

Dr E J Tjalsma asked if the names of the members who passed the ECVD part one exam could be published in the bulletin. Dominique Heripret suggested that we contact the ECVD for them to have an item in each of the veterinary bulletins in which details such as examination results could be published. Dr Tjalsma was also concerned at the difficulties experienced by members in established practices in obtaining a diploma and asked the official position of the ESVD board regarding the alternate route to the ECVD Diploma. Dominique Heripret replied that ESVD has no official position because ESVD was not involved in the post-graduate training programme.

INCOME

• Membership fee

In 1999, ESVD counted 6 free members (4 Honorary, 2 Retired), 589 paying members and 47 new members. There are now 198 full members. A membership renewal was sent for the first time in January and then a reminder in April. We deleted 45 members because of failure to send payment.

• Investment Account

Interest has decreased again this year. Rates are low throughout Europe and unlikely to increase.

• Annual congress

The organising committee for the Helsinki congress and in particular Leena Saijonmaa-Koulumies are to be congratulated and thanked for their efforts in organising the congress and in attracting very generous sponsorship which gave us a profit far in excess of any expectations. As is customary, this has been shared equally between ESVD and ECVD.

• Other income

A small profit was made on the Nice workshop which has been reinvested as a primer for the annual congress in Nice in 2002.

EXPENSES

• Meeting – Travel Expenses

We had three board meetings. One in Copenhagen, one in San Francisco and one in Harrogate. The Copenhagen board meeting was sponsored, San Francisco was a short business meeting, as all of the board members were attending the World Derm congress and no expenses were claimed for this meeting. Expenses include therefore the board meeting in Harrogate and payment of late claims for board meetings in 1999.

• Veterinary Dermatology

The charges are slightly less than the previous year but will increase markedly when the number of journals increases to six per year.

• Bank Charges

These have increased slightly over last year and this includes charges for payment by Visa.

• Secretary – mailing

This has slightly increased and will probably do so over the next two or three years as the paid secretary takes on more of the administration of the Society. An account has been set up in Holland to facilitate the work of the secretary.

• ESVD publications

This is markedly reduced but some expenses for this year have not yet been invoiced.

• Miscellaneous

This is fees for our membership of FECAVA

• ECVD

Annual congresses are joint congresses between ESVD and ECVD and profits are divided equally.

• ESVD Grant

The grant for the year 2000 was awarded to Alessandra Fondati and her group in Barcelona.

• US Bank account

We still maintain a dollar bank account in the US to allow our American members to pay their subscriptions in US dollars and also to pay expenses for American speakers. In the year 2000 this included expenses for ESVD workshops for Thierry Olivry and Verena Affolter.

• UK Bank account

This includes payment in Pounds Sterling but also the payment by Visa.

GENERAL COMMENTS

The financial situation is extremely healthy thanks mainly to the unexpectedly healthy profit made at the Helsinki congress. Expenses will have to increase in the near future as Veterinary Dermatology is going from four to six editions per year and it will be necessary at some stage in the future to review membership fees.

The Visa facility is proving very popular as a method of paying subscriptions. This does slightly increase our costs and particularly costs of secretarial input but this is still the most convenient method of transferring funds across national boundaries. Despite enquiries in a number of European countries we still have only been able to set up this facility through an English bank. European banks seem unable to set up this facility. Principally it would seem because we are a registered charity.

Secretarial costs will increase almost certainly over the next few years as the work of the Board increases and also board members increase their use of her expertise. This will be offset, to some extent, from 2001 due to a reduction in the number of board members.
